

Ivy Teresa
Music Producer & Educator

Small Group Sessions

Experience the joy of music-making in a bespoke group setting

Looking for a novel experience to share with your friends?

Visiting Berlin and looking for a unique way to experience techno culture?

Wanting to gift an inspiring and enriching experience for a music-obsessed loved one?

Book a bespoke music-making workshop, where you and a small group of friends will make your very own tracks, no prior music-making experience required.

With a free trial of the popular Ableton Live software and a set of provided audio samples, you and your friends will make your very own tracks while being given expert technical and creative support and guidance. After a short break, you will then share the music you've made with your friends in a non-critical and celebratory listening session, and be delighted at the results.

Designed for beginners all the way through to experts, this workshop is an empowering and exciting experience for anyone with a curiosity about how music makes its way from an idea all the way to the dancefloor.

What You Get

A unique and hands-on music-making experience designed for all experience levels

A new and creative way to connect with your friends or colleagues

A positive and supported creative environment to experiment with something new

Insight into the production techniques of some of your favourite artists

New understanding of the basics of music-making

A unique experience deeply connected to Berlin's culture as a music and night-life capital

What You Need

Windows or Mac laptop for each participant with free Ableton Live trial version downloaded and installed

Wired headphones for all participants (not bluetooth)

Workshop Details

Participants: 4 - 7 Participants

Duration: 3 - 4 Hours (including a short break)

Prior experience: None

Price: 600 €

A workshop location can be provided upon request at an extra charge.

Contact

 +49 176 290 45408

 hallo@ivyteresa.com

 ivyteresa.com

